Millennium Gallery

Arundel Gate, Sheffield

The Millennium Gallery is one of modern Sheffield's landmark public spaces. Whether you're in town and just passing through, or looking for somewhere to show off the city's wares to visiting relatives at the weekend, the Millennium Gallery always has something new to offer. As well as being home to the city's unique Ruskin and metalwork collections, Millennium Gallery hosts some of the finest touring exhibitions in the country, from partners including the V&A, Tate and National Portrait Gallery.

Free Entry

Open Monday – Saturday
10am – 5pm
Sunday 11am – 4pm

How to find us...

By public transport

The Gallery is just a few minutes walk from the train station and bus interchange and close to city centre bus and tram stops. The nearest tram stop is Cathedral.

By car

Look out for the brown signs on all major routes into Sheffield. Follow signs to the city centre. The nearest car park is the Arundel Gate NCP.
